THEN THERE WAS TRAGEDY — Anthony and Judith Pantaliere were driving north on Route 93 Tuesday morning, without serious incident. Then in seconds, the ambulance was summoned, the young couple was taken to the Bon Secours Hospital, and their car was left in the middle of the highway — an example of what happens when a moving vehicle hits a stopped truck. The latter vehicle was standing in the lane, obeying signals from police assigned to the highway construction project at Route 495 interchange. The car slammed into it, and even in the photo, smudges of paint from the truck can be seen on the front of the car roof. The couple is in "fair" condition at the Hospital. See page three for an interior view of the car. (Staff Photo)

2 In Hospital After Accident

An Everett couple were in "fair" condition at Bon Secours Hospital yesterday, after their car slammed into the rear of a stopped truck on Route 93.

Spectators and some veteran police officials described the accident as one of the most destructive they had seen for a long time.

Police reported that the passenger vehicle smashed into the rear of the truck, which was standing in one lane of the highway, on signal from two police officers. They were halting traffic to allow construction vehicles to pass across the road, at the new Route 495 interchange.

The car hit so hard, it was noted, that paint from the truck rubbed

Demands Growing For Local Action To Clean Out Brook

Assessors Approve Shelter Policy

Assessor Bernard Magane announced Wednesday that the local Board will not assess fallout shelters built here — but noted that each shelter will be inspected before a decision is made on assessing it.

He explained that some basement shelters might, for example, actually serve the purpose of a comfortable game room. These, he indicated, would not be exempt from assessment.

He also stated that the state assessors' association will file a bill in the Legislature providing for relief from assessment of shelters. If this is passed by the

A grassroots demand for local work on Rogers Brook — at a saving of thousands of dollars — is growing in the community.

It comes in the wake of revelations by the State Waterways Division that "no one in the world" knows whether enough state funds are available for the elaborate construction project designed during the last two or three years.

Kenneth P. Thompson is spokesman for a group of vitally interested citizens, who believe that the brook can be cleaned out, and that culverts can be replaced where necessary — and still save much of the $175,000 the town will put up when the larger project begins.

Mr. Thompson said he has already talked to residents whose homes are normally affected by the Brook, and they agree that local work may be the answer.

The growing movement to take local action follows the latest in a series of events that have brought the brook project to a virtual halt.

When town officials met with acting director John Bradford of the Waterways Division, he said all he can promise the town is matching funds — $175,000. However, during the past few years,

Schools Open Next Thursday

The Andover Public Schools will reopen at the usual hours Thursday, Sept. 7, with an expected record enrollment of 3,644 students. Regular sessions will be held for all schools. Cafeterias will serve lunches.

Transportation routes will remain essentially the same as they were in June with adjustments to be made as conditions warrant. Students are advised to be ready a few minutes early during the first few days until the time schedules have been established.

As announced in the spring the fifth and sixth grade pupils who would ordinarily attend the West School will be transferred to the Stowe School, due to the increase in the school population in the west section of town. It is hoped that the new elementary building on Lovejoy rd. will be ready a year hence to meet the needs of these greater enrollments, according to Supt. Edward I. Erickson.

The entire teaching and administrative staff of the school system

St. Augustine's School will open officially Monday, Sept. 11, according to an announcement this week by Very Rev. Henry B. Smith, O.S.A.

Postponement of the opening is due to renovations in the school, he explained.

All children will meet Monday, Sept. 11, in the parking lot of the Church, at 8:50 a.m., and will attend Mass at 9 a.m. Fr. Smith stressed his wish that none of the children should go to the school yard that morning.

Party Held For Henry Mills

Wednesday evening, Aug. 23, a birthday party was held for Henry Edward Mills, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mills of River st., Ballardvale, when his friends gathered to help him celebrate his 16th birthday.

Records were played and singing and dancing was enjoyed. Refreshments were served and a large birthday cake, made by his mother, was cut. Henry received many gifts and cards.

Guests included Linda Quinn, Lois Nolin, Robert Correy, L. Jay Pimpare, Dale Ward, Susan Pimpare, Paul Nason, Janet Letters, Cameron Lee Mills, Dean Ward, John and Jessie Mills, Karen Nason, Fred and Phillip Froburg, Ellen Townsend, Barbara Fraize, David Townsend, Janice Mather, Richard Davison, John Provasoli, Kathy Castor, Phyllis LaFleur, Donald White, Helene Riley, Mrs. Henry Brouck and daughter Sandra, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mills Jr., and the honored guests.

Births...

WASPS TOOK OVER - The wrens had a nice, comfortable home in this house, in the back yard of Mr. and Mrs. George Winslow on Henderson ave. Then quite unexpectedly, the wasps simply took possession, and made their own home around the bird house. The top frame of the bird house can still be seen, but the rest is a neatly-shaped nest for wasps now. Needless to say, Mr. Winslow doesn't intend to bother the wasps until cold weather. At right center can be seen one of the holes left in the nest for easy wasp access. (Staff Photo)

CO-OP Cake Decorating Classes

Last winter's CO-OP Cake Decorating Class was so strictly limited. Register promptly and get instructions for the first class at the CO-OP.

An advanced class will start two weeks from today - Thursday, Sept. 14 - and run every other Thursday for six sessions.

A beginners' class will start Thursday, Sept. 21 and meet six times every other Thursday.

Both classes will be held at the Bay State Bank at 7 P.M. under the supervision of Mrs. Thompson of Reading. The cost of each course is $6.00. Registration is successful (see happy faces above) that we are starting TWO such classes next month.

Why is the CO-OP sponsoring this? Because the CO-OP is more than a store. We not only sell fine foods; we like to help you prepare them attractively and appetizingly.

Come and have fun. Let us help you amaze your family with your culinary artistry.

off on the roof of the car.

Police said Anthony Pantaliere, 23, 216 Main st., Everett, and his wife, Judith, were occupants of the car.

Francis P. Bagley, 53 Hamilton st., Dorchester, was driving the truck, owned by the Major Chemical and Latex Corp. of Roxbury.

Local and state police, and the Registry of Motor Vehicles were involved in the investigation.

Troopers J. J. Cronin and Edward Mahoney, state police Sgt. Edward Byron, Registry Inspector Edward Reidel, and the following local officers were at the scene: Sgt. Robert V. Deyermund, Duncan Cairnie, Henry Glaimo and Richard Caldwell.

They reported that skid marks at the scene measured 98 feet. The car, on orders of the state police, remained in the roadway for some time while a state police photographer was summoned. The lane was cleared for traffic about 12:15 p.m.

ASSESSORS HAVE SHELTER POLICY

Legislature in 1962, he stated, it will solve the whole problem.

There has been considerable debate about exempting shelters from taxation, and the state tax office is even now giving the matter consideration.

When the subject was discussed briefly at a recent Selectmen's meeting, several believed that there should be no assessment on shelters built specifically, and only, for that purpose.

History proves that no man has ever reached perfection by following his own advice.

Dear friends,

It is generally believed that the art of embalming saw its highest perfection in ancient Egypt. We can assure you that there was nothing in their method which cannot now be duplicated. Equipment comparable to that in a modern hospital is used.

Our state requirements on embalming are very rigid.

And his mourners will lament, "If only..."

If only he hadn't been speeding . . . if only he hadn't passed on the hill . . . if only he hadn't cut out of line. If only . . . Over the coming holiday week-end, more than 500 people will die in "if-only" accidents. Thousands of others will end up in the hospital. Or, if they're lucky, in the courthouse. Don't be one of them. Keep your car and tires in good shape. Wear a safety belt. Drive carefully. Drive as though every other driver were an "if-only" driver. Drive as though your life depended on it . . . every minute, every mile, every moment of the day and night. Then they won't have cause to say of you, "If only . . ."

WANT BROOK CLEANED OUT

Rodolph Bessette, director of the state agency, has promised in writing that the Division would spend $295,000. It's the difference between the matching funds and the extras promised by Bessette that now can not be found.

Correspondence in the town manager's office states specifically, over the signature of the director, that the additional funds have been "encumbered". This means, normally, that the actual money is set aside, so that it is readily available when needed.

Mr. Bradford's statement, then, came as a surprise to the Selectmen and other municipal officials, who thought that ample money had been held out for the project.

They found that the matching funds - at a total of $350,000 from town and state - won't be enough to even get the Brook job done from the river to Whittier st. This portion of the project is now estimated at $468,000, including engineering fees of $41,000.

The entire project, to Highland rd., now is estimated at a huge $653,000 - an increase over estimates furnished the town previously.

In the face of the increase, at least one local contractor claims that prices are lower now than they have been in a long time - and that bids on such a project ought to reflect this trend.

Spotted History

The entire Rogers Brook project has been one of frustrations and delays.

In the planning stages since 1956, the project seemed almost ready to begin this year - but final approval of the plans was delayed when the Waterways Division Director, Rodolph Bessette, was investigated then brought up on charges before his boss.

When he was suspended for one month without pay, Mr. Bradford took over the duties - and it was to him that the town turned for what officials thought might be automatic approval of the work.

His answer that only $175,000 can be made available now was in direct contradiction with written statements of the director, dated Oct. 28, 1959, that $255,000 had been encumbered for the project. In a more recent letter, the director also agreed to provide $40,000 for the Whittier st. to Highland rd. portion of the project.

So close had the job come to reality that easements have been taken, at town expense, in order to clear up final details of the planning stage.

When local officials talked to Mr. Bradford last week, he contacted the Duffill Associates, seeking to learn about estimated costs for the project, and the answers were provided by that firm as follows:

River to Whittier st. - $409,000, plus $18,000 for the railroad work and inspection, plus $41,000 for engineering inspection - for a grand total of $468,000.

Mr. Duff has noted that estimates of the total cost, for the entire project, are $653,000.

The engineering firm is the same one that has designed numerous Waterways Division projects. The firm's first plans for Rogers Brook, as submitted to the Selectmen several years ago, neared a million dollars, and took care of the most severe weather that could be anticipated. After being notified that the town couldn't stand this sort of project, the plans were redrawn, eventually making use of portions of a plan drawn by Clinton Goodwin of Haverhill for the old Board of Public Works.

Sections of the plan have also subsequently been revised; changes have been made on the suggestion of the town's consulting engineers; and various other activities have been undertaken by the firm on the project.

According to Town Manager Duff, the firm has already been paid for all of this work - although he said it would be very difficult to determine how much money this might involve.

Although Mr. Duff and other town officials have not officially confirmed the fact, it is understood that appeals are to be made to the state commissioner of public works, Jack Ricciardi, in an effort to get the Division to keep Bessette's promise to the town. Mr. Ricciardi is Mr. Bessette's superior, and conducted the hearings against Bessette after several promptings from the governor's office.

All-Number Calling Begins

All-number calling - a new proposal by the Telephone Co. - goes into effect immediately.

Under the new system, telephone bills will indicate telephone numbers without the usual two letters of the alphabet.

Thus GR becomes 47.

It won't make too much difference to customers - the numbers used are the ones found on the dial beside the letters. But as new services are installed, the letters will disappear from the phones. Eventually, by Jan. 1, 1966, all telephones will use only numbers.

In essence, the change makes it possible for the firm to provide more exchanges because there are more combinations of numbers than there are of letters.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

We Should Lead The Way

We have, as the saying goes, "been had".

The State Waterways Division - subject of investigations and subsequent bad reputation - appears to have used our Rogers Brook project as a means of fattening the engineering "kitty", without real intentions of undertaking the project.

Examination of the correspondence on the project - a big, fat folder at this point - shows that the director of the Division, Rodolphe Bessette, stated that funds would be encumbered for the project.

Now the acting-director, filling in while Mr. Bessette takes a vacation without pay, ordered by his superior, states that no one can tell where the money is - if it's available at all.

It looks to us as though the town has unwittingly, and unwillingly, been the victim of poor administration by that Division; to say the least.

Possibly Mr. Bessette had no right to say he would encumber funds, in excess of the exact matching amount approved by law. Perhaps he also promised numerous other communities the same thing, in an effort to be a "good fellow" to them all. Whatever the reasons, the town now holds a folder full of promises - but has no money and not much promise of getting any.

As far as can be determined, according to Town Manager Thomas E. Duff, the consulting engineers hired by the Division have been paid in full for their work on this project - two designs, numerous corrections and alterations. There's no telling how much has been paid to the engineers, it is alleged.

Some people believe that the town must insist, through whatever sources are open to the local officials, that this project be completed as promised by Mr. Bessette.

Certainly the reconstruction project is just as worthwhile as formerly.

But is insistence on going through with this project justified, now that we know something about the operations of the Division?

Instead of insisting that poor administrative procedures be perpetuated, through diversion of funds to this job, outside of the regular matching funds, shouldn't the town take the lead in saying:

"We'll have nothing more to do with your Division until we're satisfied that it is functioning properly; that we're getting every bit that we are allowed to get, by law, but nothing more."

Someone, somewhere, has to stand on his hind legs and refuse to do business with any state agency that appears to be operating in other than normal ways. If we press for special favors, at this point, we're really acknowledging that the system exposed to public view in recent weeks is a good system; actually the town can do itself a favor by stating that it will not compromise its own business ethics by continuing this project under these conditions.

Careful, Please

To many of us, the passage of Labor Day is marked with a sigh of relief - another summer is behind us; the children will be going back to school; familiar activities will resume on regular schedules.

But every person who sits behind the wheel of a car should, at this time of year, refuse to breathe that sigh. They must become more aware, more careful, more cognizant of the dangers on and along the roadways.

Actually, Labor Day marks a shift of emphasis from danger-by-the-mile to danger-by-the-yard.

It is children, on their way to and from school and at play, who bring this danger-by-the-yard, danger by the school yard and danger by the well-kept yards that line our residential streets.

Just as locusts are a sign of summer, school children are a sign of fall. And wherever they are - in school yards, or darting along the roads, or dashing into streets from their own yards - they pose a real responsibility for all drivers.

These school days can be safe, if only each of us, each time we drive, remembers to observe the little and not-so-little fundamentals we were first taught:

If only we remember that children are unpredictable.

If only we admit that we are not infallible.

If only we heed speed signs, whether at schools or on turnpikes.

JFK FACES FACTS

In solving all his troubles,
King Arthur had his Merlin.
But there's no simple magic

If only we keep our car's safety equipment in shape to serve instantly when needed.

If only we remember that most accidents occur on familiar grounds.

If only we carry concern for others with us every time we drive.

If only, this Labor Day, we recognize that careful, considerate driving is not just for holidays but is a day-to-day need.

Then we can begin to edge our traffic toll down a little each day, then we can come close to eliminating the careless, useless moments that get us into accidents, where our only recourse is to lament "if only..."

CAPITOL COMMENT

By YOUR CONGRESSMAN
BRAD MORSE

General Douglas MacArthur returned to the Philippines last month. He left with the Philippine people a message which the world must heed. Let me repeat his words:

"The great question is - can global war now be outlawed from the world? If so, it would mark the greatest advance in civilization since the Sermon on the Mount. It would lift at one stroke the darkest shadow which has engulfed mankind from the beginning. It would not only remove fear and bring security - it would not only create new moral and spiritual values - it would produce an economic wave of prosperity that would raise the world's standard of living beyond anything ever dreamed of by man."

Peace - with justice - is the number one problem of our time. Of this, there can be no doubt. The deteriorating situation of the past several months, culminating in the explosive crisis in Berlin, has brought home to every American the imperative nature of the problem.

The Congress of the United States was quick to respond to President Kennedy's cold war mobilization speech, televised to the nation July 25. It immediately provided supplementary military appropriations of $3.4 billion to strengthen our defense structure. It gave the President unprecedented powers to call additional men to arms. On another front, the Congress has voted for an expanded program of foreign aid, designed to strengthen the cause of freedom throughout the world.

But, in my judgment, a third front must not be neglected. I speak of our efforts to find a meaningful formula whereby the cause of world peace can be advanced and the security of our nation protected through arms control.

Let me again quote from General MacArthur's speech to the National Legislature of the Philippines:

"We are in a new era. The old methods and solutions no longer suffice. We must have new thoughts, new ideas, new concepts. We must break out of the strait jacket of the past. We must have sufficient imagination and courage to translate the universal wish for peace - which is rapidly becoming a universal necessity - into actuality. And until then, at whatever cost or sacrifice, we must be fully prepared - lest we perish."

The U.S. Disarmament Administration was established by former President Eisenhower within the Department of State in an endeavor to explore "new thoughts, new ideas, new concepts" for peace. It was a relatively small element within the vast bureaucracy of our State Department, but its work, over the months, pointed up the need for a major effort in the field of arms control.

A bi-partisan move is underway here in the Congress to create a new agency, to operate as a semi-autonomous organization within the Department of State, which would conduct and support research for policy formulation in the field of arms control and direct U. S. participation in international disarmament negotiations. The proposal, submitted by President Kennedy and endorsed by many prominent Republicans, including General Eisenhower, former Secretary of State Christian Herter, former United Nations Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, and Congressman Walter Judd, to name a few, recognizes that recurrent crises in international affairs require that the search for peace be a major, continuing concern of the United States.

In support of this move, I have filed a bill which would call for the establishment of a U.S. Agency for World Peace and Security. My bill differs from the Administration bill (which, by the way, was co-sponsored by Congressman Judd) by the inclusion of a statutory provision which would permit former Presidents of the United States to serve on the general advisory committee which the Administration bill would create.

So long as the Soviet Union continues its aggressive adventures throughout the world, we must at no time let down our guard. For this reason I have unhesitatingly supported the defense buildup which President Kennedy has called for. But I believe that the Administration and the Congress would be remiss in their responsibility to the American people if they failed to support efforts which may lead to a world without war, with liberty and justice for all.

All Andover schools will open in the next two weeks, and an accumulated total of the enrollments shows that more than 4,100 young people will be attending school here. This is somewhat higher than the total a year ago.

Total attendance at Pomp's Pond this year was 40,476.

A survey of individual housing in Andover will be undertaken as part of the Civil Defense activity. The town is designated as a reception center, and the aim is to find out how much room is available, before mass shelter is required.

All available local police will be on duty over Labor Day. It is expected that some 400 persons will die in auto accidents over the long weekend.

The infirmary on Carmel rd. has been described as "model" and a "charming home" for the community's elderly citizens, in the state public welfare department report.

GOLDEN AGE CIRCLE ELECTED OFFICERS

The Golden Age Circle met at the home of Mrs. Ernest Rollins of Clark rd. recently and the following officers were elected: president, Mrs. Clarence Wormwood; vice president, Mrs. Edna Laffin; secretary, Mrs. Ernest Rollins and treasurer, Mrs. Frank Ward.

A social time followed and the hostesses served refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Dearborn Tomlinson and daughter, Diane of Detroit, Mich., have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Gollan of Riverview Park.

Wedding...

REA — HAJJAR

The First Calvary Baptist Church in Lawrence was the scene this month of the wedding of Miss Bonita Katherine Hajjar and James Christopher Rea.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kareem W. Hajjar, 133 Elm st. Mr. Rea is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert F. Rea, 5400 Lane Lake rd., Bloomfield Hills, Mich.

Dr. C. G. Meeden performed the ceremony, and the Church was decorated with arrangements of white chrysanthemums. Miss Myra Stone sang the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk taffeta featuring Bo-Peep sleeves of Chantilly lace. Her bouffant skirt was fashioned with Chantilly lace inserts and terminated in a split chapel-length train. She wore a crown of orange blossoms caught to illusion veiling, and carried an old-fashioned nosegay of baby's breath and fleurs d'amour.

As maid of honor, Miss Joyce M. Nassar wore an afternoon length sunshine yellow dress of silk organza featuring a tulip skirt. She wore matching accessories and carried a spray of daisies and black-eyed susans.

The bridesmaids, Gail M. Conroy of Lafayette Hill, Pa., and Elizabeth R. Etoll of Syracuse, N. Y., wore matching ensembles.

Tyrone G. Maitland was best man and the ushers' duties were performed by two brothers of the bride, William and John Hajjar of Andover, James Kfoury and Henry Nassar, also of Andover.

The bride is a graduate of Pennsylvania State University and Katherine Gibbs School.

Mr. Rea is a 1961 graduate of Pennsylvania State University.

Couple's Club Will Meet Sept. 9

The South Church Couple's Club will hold its first meeting of the fall season Sept. 9. A baked bean and ham buffet supper will be served at 6:30.

Speaker of the evening will be Dr. John Mark, a well-known humorist, who has spoken to several church gatherings in the area.

All couples of the Church are welcome at the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Steele and family of Andover st., Ballardvale, have returned from a vacation spent at Hampton Beach.

MISS CHARLOTTE BENTLEY

Engagement

Dobbie — Bentley

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bentley of Andover st., Ballardvale, announce the engagement and coming marriage of their daughter, Charlotte, to Richard Dobbie, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Dobbie of Flint cir.

The wedding will take place

Saturday, Sept. 9, at St. Augustine's Church, at 3 o'clock.

• Miss Bentley is a graduate of Andover High School class of 1960 and is employed by the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co. in Lawrence.

Mr. Dobbie is also a graduate of the 1960 class, Andover High School, and is employed at Susie Sweets.

Wedding . . .

ESSELSTYN - BURTON

Arrangements of white gladioli adorned the altar of St. Augustine's Church last Saturday for the wedding of Miss Marie Frances Burton and James Osborn Esselstyn, 11 North st., Newtonville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Ward Burton, 90

Lowell st. and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Albert E. Esselstyn of Claverack, N. Y., and the late Mr. Esselstyn.

The Rev. Thomas Tevington, O.S.A., officiated at the 11:30 a.m. ceremony.

For her wedding, the bride chose an empire gown of white peau de soie, fashioned with a portrait neckline accented with appliques of seed pearls from her grandmother's wedding gown, elbow-length sleeves and a bouffant skirt that featured a circular chapel-length train.

She wore a fingertip mantilla of Belgian lace and carried a crescent bouquet of white Fuji mums arranged with lemon foliage. She was escorted to the altar by her father.

The maid of honor, Miss Barbara E. Brookover, of New York City, wore a short-sleeved street-length dress of beige silk organza over acqua silk taffeta. It was fashioned with a circlet neckline and a sheath skirt featuring a silk organza obi panel in the back. She carried bronze Fuji mums and lemon foliage.

The bridesmaids were Dorothy M. Pratt of Jacksonville, Fla. and Marie A. Glynn of North Andover. They were identically gowned and carried the same floral bouquets.

The bride's mother was wearing an acqua linen sheath ensemble with complimentary accessories. The mother of the bridegroom wore a French rose chiffon sheath with bone accessories.

Albert H. Esselstyn of Claverack, N. Y., was best man and ushers' duties were performed by Robert W. Burton of Cambridge and Richard A. Mortenson of Stow.

MRS. JAMES O. ESSELSTYN

A reception was held at the Andover Inn, following the ceremony. The bride was graduated from Simmons College and Merrimack College.

Mr. Esselstyn graduated from Boston University, college of Industrial Technology, and Northeastern University Graduate School.

He is employed as an engineer in Tulsa, Oklahoma, where the couple will live.

Time to change to Gas Heat

The modern fuel that's always in Plentiful Supply

GROWING DEMAND! Back in 1952 our customers used 2,368,000 cubic feet of Gas on the coldest day of winter.

Last winter, they used 14,691,800 cubic feet on the coldest day.

An increase of 620 per cent. The principal reason, of course, is the great number of wise homeowners who have put in Gas heat in recent years.

AMPLE SUPPLY! And of course there will always be plenty of Gas for everybody. The amount which has been authorized for delivery by our Natural Gas supplier . . . plus our own production facilities, which can be put to use as the need arises . . . assures our customers of always having enough Gas.

With winter coming on, more and more people are changing to Gas heat! And there'll be enough for all.

Announce Home Rooms

Homeroom assignments have been announced by Headmaster Lindsay J. March of the High School.

The list of assignments, published here this week, gives students a chance to become familiar with their class groups.

Mr. March also has requested that any student not already registered at the School call for an appointment as soon as possible. Sessions begin Sept. 7.

He also requests that students who have completed summer work, which may influence their choice of subjects, or those not yet sure of their program, call at the High School office.

The assignments of home rooms is as follows:

Seniors - A through Clark, room 8, Miss Grover; C through Grace,

Consult

THIRTY TONS rolling down a hillside have proved to be quite an attraction for motorists on Route 93. These big Euclids get rolling down one embankment, hustle across the highway with a loud clashing of gears, then climb up on the easterly side of Route 93 where the interchange for Route 495 is being constructed. The machines often are referred to by spectators as giant bugs.

George F. Snyder, playground supervisor, said the total attendance for the season was 44,032, based on a compilation for 37 days of activity. Rain and holidays resulted in closing the grounds on only three days.

Central had the largest registration, with 968. Next was Ballardvale, with 804; Shawsheen had 627; Indian Ridge 360 and West Center 240.

Of the total, 1337 were boys, 1203 girls, 173 men and 286 women.

Meeting Soon On River Pollution

A discussion of Merrimack River pollution and abatement of this nuisance will take place in Lowell in October, according to an announcement from Congressman F. Bradford Morse.

He is sponsoring the meeting, at Liberty Hall, Lowell, and will have representatives of various federal agencies on hand to discuss specific problems. Included among the agencies to be represented at the session are the departments of Health, Education and Welfare, Agriculture, the Army Corps of Engineers and the Housing and Home Finance agency.

"Every facet of the problems involved in water supply, pollution abatement and sewage treatment in the Fifth Congressional District" will be covered, according to the congressman.

State and local officials, representatives of semi-public organizations and all interested citizens are welcome at the meeting. Individuals wishing to attend have been asked, however, to contact Mr. Morse.

Bruce Family Held Reunion

The Bruce family held its annual family reunion recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Bruce on Center st., Ballardvale.

The following attended Mr. and Mrs. John Gollan and Kelly Gollan, Mr. and Mrs. Dearborn Tomlinson of Detroit, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. William McGraw Sr. and Kay and Gena of Framingham; Mr. and Mrs. William McGraw Jr., and Heather and William of Framingham; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Parker, Cathy and Edward Jr., of Andover; Mr. and Mrs. David Binnie of Andover and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce.

Homemakers' Club Meets Sept. 12

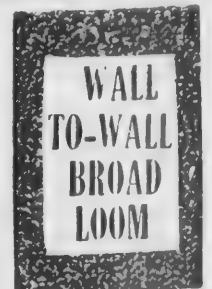

The first fall meeting of the Ballardvale Homemakers' Extension Club will be held at the home of Mrs. Leo Pimpare on River st., Ballardvale, Sept. 12.

The 9:30 a.m. meeting will include discussions of "slick tricks"

A contest will be held following the meeting.

SPECIAL ELECTION NOW ASSURED

gister at a 12 noon to 10 p.m. session at the town hall Oct. 4. Registrations will then be closed until after the primary - but eligible adults again will have a chance to get on the voting list at a session Oct. 25. Again, this will be a noon-10 p.m. affair at the town hall.

A number of candidates have indicated their interest in seeking nomination for the office of representative, and may now receive nomination papers to be signed by at least 25 registered voters.

Although it is possible for any otherwise-qualified individual to run as an independent - thus avoiding the special primary altogether, none has so far indicated an interest in this procedure. According to the state election division, such a candidate must secure 946 signatures - the number equivalent to three percent of the total vote cast for governor in the district at the last state election.

If a candidate presents enough signatures, the state officials state, his name then will be printed on the ballot at the election - along with names of those nominated at the primary.

All nomination papers - of candidates in the primary or anyone seeking to run as an independent - must be filed with the secretary of state by 5 p.m. Oct. 3.

The signatures must be presented first to the registrars of voters, however, for local certification. The deadline for filing locally is 5 p.m. Sept. 26. Candidates in the primary also must secure a party enrollment certificate, for presentation to the secretary of state. Mr. Piper acknowledged this week that details of the special primary and election are somewhat vague as yet. He is trying to determine whether it is essential to have all precinct voting places open for the primary, or whether voting can be accomplished in one or two voting places.

The Selectmen, who meet next Tuesday night, must set the hours of voting.

will report for duty Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 5 and 6. Meetings have been planned for these two days and time will be allowed for the personnel to prepare for greeting the student body at the start of the new term.

New students who have not previously registered may do so on the first day of school.

The custodians have worked faithfully during the summer months, under the direction of Fred L. Collins, head custodian. All schools have been thoroughly cleaned in preparation for the opening of schools.

Much has been accomplished in the nature of repairs and improvements of the school facilities. Some items of major importance include: extension of modern lighting equipment in classrooms and corridors in the East Wing of the Junior High School; re-decorating all classrooms and corridors in the Stowe School; painting lower corridor in West Wing of Junior High School and the auditorium runway ceiling in the East Wing; painting the cupola of the Shawsheen School; extension of the hot-top play area at the South and Shawsheen Schools; installation of tile in girls' showers in the Junior High School; repairs to combustion chambers of all oil-burners; improvements to the play area in the rear of the Central-Stowe Schools; painting auditorium ceiling in the Central School; sanding and re-surfacing desktops and furniture in the various schools; purchase of new furniture for Junior High, Stowe, and Shawsheen Schools; and the extension of lighting facilities in the Shawsheen School. Throughout the system miscellaneous carpentry, electrical, heating and plumbing repairs have been completed.

BOARD OF TRADE NAMES COMMITTEES

Ralph Spector and Douglas N. Howe.

Promotion, Raymond B. DeRuisseau, J. Dana Hill, David Roberts and Mr. Thompson.

Urban Renewal, Stanley Swanton, chairman; Louis Finger, R. Milton Cole, Mary Angus and Mr. Thompson.

Publicity, Edward Romeo, chairman; Robert Phinney, Lou Pendleton and David E. Young.

Mr. Thompson pointed out that the Board's by-laws define the purpose of the Board as including the promotion of individual, commercial and civic welfare of the townspeople. He noted that many business firms are eligible to become members, as are their employees. Professional men and women, whose offices are in Andover, also are eligible and will be welcome, he said.

Addison Gallery Continues Exhibit

Contrary to usual practice, the Addison Gallery of American Art at Phillips Academy, will be closed the entire Labor Day weekend, Sept. 2-4 inclusive.

The special summer exhibition "Significant Forms - The Changing Character of Western Art" has been extended an extra week through Oct. 1, to allow additional time for nearby schools to visit it after the opening of the new school year.

The exhibit consists of 34 examples of painting and sculpture covering a period of 5,000 years, to demonstrate how the ideas of Western man have altered with time. The works of art have been borrowed for this purpose from museums, dealers and private collectors throughout the United States.

The Addison Gallery is open free to the public at all times, weekdays, 9-5, Sundays 2:30-5.

Woman's Club Sponsors Bowling

The Shawsheen Village Women's Club will sponsor a Ten Pin league starting early in September.

The league will bowl at the new Stadium Lanes on Winthrop ave., Lawrence, on a week-day morning. The exact time will be determined after the league is officially formed. Mrs. U. S. Berger has been named chairman and Mrs. James A. Watters, co-chairman.

The league will meet at the Lanes Monday, Sept. 11, at 9:30 a.m., to discuss plans and roll three games for the purpose of establishing starting averages. All interested members of the Woman's Club should contact either chairman before Sept. 8.

French Young People

An almost capacity audience was on hand last Wednesday to hear 11 French young people, who have been living in Andover these past few weeks under the sponsorship of the "Experiment in International Living Program". These young people spoke informally and delightfully about various aspects of French life and shared their impressions of this country gained in their short stay here.

Alexander D. Gibson of the French faculty at Phillips Academy acted as chairman with Jean Domain, leader of the group, serving as moderator.

The young people established a close relationship with the audience at once as each introduced himself or herself, giving a thumb nail sketch of family background and educational and career expectations.

Among the subjects discussed were the French educational system, described in some detail and, in response to questions from the audience, military service requirements for young people and the Algerian question.

In closing the young people spoke at some length about their impressions of this country, of their surprise in discovering how much alike our two peoples are and of how some of their preconceived ideas about this country had been changed. They were warm in their appreciation of the friendliness shown them during their stay.

An exhibit of books on display that evening was selected from the library's collection by Jean Domain. Because of the manner of selection, interest in the choice of books may well extend beyond Wednesday night's audience. The list follows:

"The French Scene"; "France, Paris and the Provinces"; "Ogrizek"; "Coming Down the Seine"; "Gibbings"; "Village in the Vauluse"; "Wylie"; "Versailles"; "Furst"; "France Will Live Again"; "Chamberlain"; "The Paris We Love"; "Ogrizek"; "The Silent Traveller in Paris"; "Chiang Yee"; "The Classic French Cuisine"; "Donon"; "French Cathedrals"; "Hurlimann"; "Chateaux de France"; "Mathey".

History and Politics: "The War Memoirs of Charles de Gaulle"; "Reflections on the Revolution in France"; "Burke"; "A History of France"; "Maurais"; "France, Troubled Ally"; "Furniss"; "The Illustrated History of Paris and the Parisians".

Arts and Crafts: "Cezanne"; "Raynal"; "The Bayeux Tapestry"; "Stenton"; "Paris in Our Time"; "Courthion"; "French Impressionists in the Louvre"; "Claude Monet"; "Seltz"; "Porcelaines de France"; "Tilmans"; "Louvre: Masterpieces of Italian Painting"; "Art"; "Rodin"; "Montmartre"; "Courthion"; "French Art of the Eighteenth Century"; "Faniel"; "French Tapestry"; "Lejard".

Addison Gallery
Continues Exhibit

Contrary to usual practice, the Addison Gallery of American Art at Phillips Academy, will be closed the entire Labor Day weekend, Sept. 2-4 inclusive.

The special summer exhibition "Significant Forms - The Changing Character of Western Art" has been extended an extra week through Oct. 1, to allow additional time for nearby schools to visit it after the opening of the new school year.

The exhibit consists of 34 examples of painting and sculpture covering a period of 5,000 years, to demonstrate how the ideas of Western man have altered with time. The works of art have been borrowed for this purpose from museums, dealers and private collectors throughout the United States.

The Addison Gallery is open free to the public at all times, weekdays, 9-5, Sundays 2:30-5.

Woman's Club
Sponsors Bowling

The Shawshen Village Women's Club will sponsor a Ten Pin league starting early in September.

The league will bowl at the new Stadium Lanes on Winthrop ave., Lawrence, on a week-day morning. The exact time will be determined after the league is officially formed. Mrs. U. S. Berger has been named chairman and Mrs. James A. Watters, co-chairman.

The league will meet at the Lanes Monday, Sept. 11, at 9:30 a.m., to discuss plans and roll three games for the purpose of establishing starting averages. All interested members of the Woman's Club should contact either chairman before Sept. 8.

FROZEN PASSION FLOWERS — Mrs. H. T. Burnett, 18 Ridge st., holds a dish, in which four beautiful passion flowers have been preserved via freezing. Mrs. Burnett has one plant growing at the side of her home, which furnishes from one to half-a-dozen blooms each day. The blossoms last only for one day, however. The passion flower is considered a rarity here, but grows well in more tropical climates. The blossoms can be waxed for more permanent preservation. (Staff Photo)

Grows Passion Flowers Here

The beautiful Passion Flower — symbolic of the Passion of Our Lord — is growing abundantly at the home of Mrs. H. T. Burnett, 18 Ridge st.

From one main plant, placed outdoors after danger of frost was gone this summer, several ambitiously-climbing vines have spread up a wall.

Flowers have been appearing every day, in varying numbers — but each lasts only the one day.

To preserve the beauty of the blossoms, Mrs. Burnett has been freezing the blossoms — after which they can be taken out of the refrigerator and used as a centerpiece for a short time, before they are returned to the freezing compartment.

The blossoms also can be waxed, thus preserving their beauty.

Mrs. Burnett has placed some of the flowers on display at a Main st. florist's shop today.

The Passion Flower was discovered by Spanish and Italian explorers in South America, and as they inspected it, religious significance was soon given to its various parts. This was interpreted as a sign that the Indians should be converted to Christianity.

In the main, its significance has been described this way: the 10 petals were thought to represent the 10 apostles present at the crucifixion, Peter and Judas being absent.

Inside the petals is the crown corona, consisting of colored filaments or fingers believed to represent the crown of thorns, or thought by others to be emblematic of the halo.

The five stamens are suggestive of some of the five wounds, by others to be emblematic of the hammers used to drive the three nails.

The three stigmas are representative of the three nails piercing the hands and feet.

The long, coiling tendrils represent the cords, whips or even the scourges.

Various other portions of the plant have been given significance.

Mrs. Burnett, whose first experience in raising the plant was last winter, says they can be easily grown indoors — but they need plenty of food, perhaps as frequently as every 10 days. The plant begins blossoming indoors in the spring, and is then set outdoors when warm weather has arrived.

Cuttings are taken from the plant at this time of year, rooted, and potted for indoor enjoyment. The large plant is left outdoors and will die in the cold weather.

Teaches Gardening

Mrs. Burnett, in addition to her Passion Flower, has developed an interesting garden — with both flowers and vegetables sharing the limited space.

And of special interest are the many children in the area who have begun gardening under her tutelage.

Debora Alterisio, at 41/2, has her own garden plot — with healthy-looking tomatoes and lettuce, with a few dwarf marigolds mixed in.

She cares for her own plot, feeds it when needed, and gets a lot of praise for her constant care in keeping weeds and grass from growing.

Elizabeth Santner is only 11/2 but she likes to be held up where she can smell the flowers; and DeeDee Brucato, age seven is what Mrs. Burnett calls "a good worker" in the gardens in the area. Kevin C. and Pamela A. Connor, at five and seven years of age respectively, have their own small garden plot — and they're mighty proud of the big tomatoes they are beginning to harvest. Mrs. Burnett is specially proud of the youngsters, and the interest they show in gardening.
